Internal Control and Monitoring Directive, 2080 issued

The OCR (Office of the Company Registrar) has introduced the "Internal Control and Monitoring Directive, 2080" under the authority granted by Section 16 of the Companies Act, 2063. This directive aims to enhance the quality of services offered by the office in the realms of company registration and administration. It also seeks to promote responsibility and accountability among companies, ensuring their compliance with existing laws related to the Companies Act, 2063 and company administration.

Furthermore, the directive serves as a safeguard against the misuse of the corporate veil by company directors registered with the office. Additionally, it aims to bolster the office's capabilities as a regulatory body while simultaneously elevating the overall credibility of company administration in Nepal.
